She had very little freight on board at the time, which was saved without damage. A telegram from Captain J J. Darragh, who went to her assistance, informs Mr. N. M. Jones that she is settling on the stump or snag which penetrated her hull, and cannot be raised, in consequence of which she is being wrecked, and all that can be saved will be taken off of her. She was owned by the Memphis and Vicksburg Cilizens' packet company, was valued at twelve thousand dollars and uninsured. The loss will fall very heavily on her owners, they having spent about four thousand dollars on her in repairs during the summer, and had placed her in good running order for the fall season.
